

DECKED OUT

New HGTV Canada show with Decked Out's PAUL LAFRANCE looking for disaster decks...and you!

Summer's almost here -- are you thinking, "Man, the amazing deck I built a few years ago needs a total re-surface?" Or... maybe you're thinking, "When is my husband going to get off his butt and fix that crappy deck he's been promising to do for years!"

Either way...you get the idea.

We're looking for the proud owners of decrepit DIY decks to work alongside expert deck designer Paul Lafrance and his team to bring backyard retreats to their former glory. We'll provide the tools, the crew and materials...but we need you to have a few things, too.

The MUST haves:

- A deck surface that needs replacing
- Footings and framing have to be in good shape (there can't be rot issues with the framing or deteriorated footings)
- Some building know-how
- Be willing to take five days off work for filming
- Be willing/able to contribute $3,000 to the project (we kick in the rest)
- Live in Toronto, Markham, Pickering, Ajax, Whitby, or Scarborough

If you fit the criteria listed above here's what you need to do.

Submit a short video (camera phone is fine) no more than four minutes showcasing your disaster deck and discussing your building experience. Give us a reason why we should pick your project. We want homeowners with great attitudes and a wicked sense of humour. Have fun!

Videos can be emailed or burned on a DVD and mailed in.
